

Future Housing Leaders Program Benefits

What is the Future Housing Leaders Program?

Future Housing Leaders connects college students to paid internship and entry-level job opportunities with top employers in the housing industry who are committed to diversity and inclusion.

The program supports students throughout their internship experience by providing: access to industry leaders; individualized support during the application and on-boarding process; and free training and industry resources to ensure students have the skills and knowledge to succeed.

Through the Future Housing Leaders program, we can promote a more diverse workforce by opening doors to careers in housing and housing finance industry.

Why was I selected to participate In the Future Housing Leaders Program?

As an employer partner in our program, all [insert company name] interns that choose to participate in Future Housing Leaders will enjoy the added resources and benefits of the program this summer:

- Special invitations to our Housing Matters Speaker Series to hear from leaders in the housing industry.
- Exclusive, curated access to training resources like Mortgage Bankers Association certified courses and Harvard ManageMentor (leadership development tool).
- Opportunities to network with other interns and professionals in the program at companies across the country.
- Mentor support from the Future Housing Leaders team during and beyond the internship

Visit www.futurehousingleaders.com for more information.

Next Steps

The Future Housing Leaders team will send you an FHL Welcome Package and email your first week on the job to formally welcome you to the program and provide you access to the resources above.

We will work with your internship program lead at [\[insert company name\]](#) to keep you up to speed on what's going on in the industry and with FHL.

Please reach out to [\[insert Employer Partner HR POC\]](#) or the Future Housing Leaders team if you have additional questions.